

HONORING THE
LEADERSHIP TRAINING INSTITUTE OF AMERICA
HON. RAND PAUL
OF KENTUCKY
IN THE UNITED STATES SENATE
Friday, June 22, 2012

Since 1996, the Leadership Training Institute of America, LTIA, has been integral in training and preparing young men and women to lead the next generation of Americans. Each year, LTIA's national conference trains young patriots in leadership excellence, critical thinking skills, worldview apologetics, network development and community involvement in a unique format that integrates a Biblical perspective.

The Leadership Training Institute of America seeks the brightest young men and women from across the country to participate in the National Conference. The great state of Kentucky has been honored to have a great number of students selected for participation, and have graduated from its training with honors.

LTIA alumni have repeatedly assumed influential roles in both local and national arenas. It is a pleasure to commend the Leadership Training Institute of America for engaging young minds in the issues of today, preparing them to give knowledgeable and sound answers, and for casting this vision to future generations. It has been said that "Today's youth are tomorrow's leaders." LTIA has embraced this philosophy and is investing its resources to secure a bright future for America through conservative leadership. I hope my colleagues will join me in honoring the Leadership Training Institute of America for their outstanding training of America's youth for the past 16 years.
